

Brocco and Coburn Win Six-Day Bicycle Race With Lap Advantage Over Nearest Rivals

Debaets and Persyn Capture Second Prize in Long Grind

Egg and McNamara, Favorites, Fail to Regain Laps Lost Early in the Week and Finish in Fifth Place; Victors Amass Some 2,000 Points

By Fred Hawthorne

Maurice Brocco, of Italy, and Willie Coburn, of Newark, won the twenty-ninth annual six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden last night, finishing a lap in the lead over their closest rivals, Cesar Debaets and Alois Persyn, of Belgium, Julius Van Hevel and Henri Vanlerberghe, of Belgium, and Fred Taylor and Tommy Smith, of Newark, all of whom were one lap ahead of Oscar Egg, of Switzerland, and Reggie McNamara, of New York, who were two laps behind.

Debaets and Persyn won second prize, with a total of approximately 600 points, and then came Van Hevel and Vanlerberghe, with about 400 points and Taylor and Smith, Egg and McNamara, Piani and Leone, Van Nek and Miquel, Debelli and Thomas and Verri and Belloni, in that order.

Oscar Egg was easily the star of the final hour of sprinting, even though his brilliant riding could not win the race for him or his partner, owing to the fact that they were two laps behind the leaders, Brocco and Coburn. But there was a special set of prizes put up by the management for the winners in the actual order in which they crossed the finish line in each of the sprints, and Egg and McNamara won first place with $300. Second place went to Verri and Belloni, with $200, and third to Piani and Leone, $50.

Egg Takes Ten Sprints

Egg won ten of the twenty-one sprints in this final hour of riding, easily a remarkable piece of riding, and McNamara won three of the heats. Verri and Belloni won six heats, and the rest were divided among the other riders.

The final score was 2,200 miles flat. Piani and Leone were lapped in the twelfth sprint.

Three teams, hopefully in the rear, quit the race before 10 o'clock in the afternoon. Those were Crum and Vandivole, Spears and Lawrence and the Suter Brothers, and there were only nine teams on the track when the night portion of the race began.

Maurice Brocco and Willie Coburn, who had gained two laps on the entire field, were still in front of the pack. Egg and McNamara, Verri and Belloni, and Fred Taylor and Tommy Smith—had regained one of these laps and were only a single circuit behind the leaders when the last hour of the race began.

Favorites Far Behind

The next five teams, including Oscar Egg and Reggie McNamara, who started as favorites in the grand last Sunday night, were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and their position was not improved when the last hour of the race began.

To win the race it would be necessary for the Swiss-American team to gain three laps before the end of the race. Only an accident could bring this about.

Debaets and Persyn, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Verri and Belloni, who were two laps behind Brocco and Coburn, and Verri and Belloni, who were one lap behind, were the only teams that had a chance of winning the race.

Several Shifts Among Coaches Likely in 1921

Washington and Jefferson in Market for Capable Football Mentor Next Season

By Ray McCarthy

The football coaching problem in at least six institutions is unsettled, and, from all appearances, will not be settled for some time to come, in any of these places. While there will not be so many shifts probably as there were last year, a few, nevertheless, will be made, and well defined rumors are going the rounds that several startling changes will be wrought in the personnel of the coaching staff of various colleges.

Washington and Jefferson is in the market for a good coach. Its alumni have raised $20,000 to install a sound coaching system, and the authorities at Washington are on the hunt now. Dr. Morrow has announced his retirement and says he will not return under any consideration. If the president can obtain the service of a good man they will bear watching, as they always have good material.

One man who is being prominently mentioned for the post is none other than Gilmore Dobie, the Cornell gridiron mentor. True, Dobie has a three-year contract and it isn't likely that either he or Cornell will break it. But we have heard some Cornellians express dissatisfaction over Dobie, and if one were to believe the tall tutor himself he would get the impression that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

It is reported that "Cutie" Spears will not return to Dartmouth. This, too, may or may not be true, but it was as good as a foregone conclusion that the former Navy coach was quite unhappy in his new sphere. Of course, all this is current gossip picked up en route, and is to be taken at its face value.

Willie Hoppe, King With Cue

Cornell Team Sails This Week To Run Abroad

Championship Runners to Meet Oxford and Cambridge Athletes Dec. 27

By Jack Masters

When the Aquitania points her prow in the general direction of the Western Hemisphere next Tuesday morning the most important athletic invasion of Europe since the Olympic games will be officially inaugurated, for the big liner will carry the championship Cornell cross-country team, which is to meet the representatives of Oxford and Cambridge at Roehampton, near London, on December 27.

The American team, in charge of Coach Jack Moxley, Manager E. J. Bailey and John P. McGovern, will be composed of the following seven harriers, who recently won the Intercollegiate title for the up-state University of Cornell: Charles C. Carter, Howard V. Borsal, Norman P. Brown, R. E. Brown, Captain James L. Dickinson and Milton E. Richmond. Although the race was not arranged as an international meeting, but as a courtesy to Cornell's appreciation of the hospitality by the university community to the British athletes who competed in the Pennsylvania relay carnival, Cornell's victory in the American championships gives the meeting the flavor of a contest between the best distance runners of two countries.

The race will be held over the Thames Hare and Hounds Club course, a distance of about six miles, and Moxley's boys will leave in the best condition of their youthful careers, having trained for the past eight weeks over a specially prepared course near Ithaca.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

A farewell demonstration for the Red and White harriers will be given on Monday evening by the Cornell alumni of this city. Some of the greatest distance runners in the history of the sport will be present. Among them will be John Paul Jones, who recently won the world's record for the mile run, and Tell Berna, whose mark of 9:17.45 still stands as the American record for two miles.

Tales of a Wayside Tree

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1920, New York Tribune Inc.)

Lucky is the golfer who has strong, supple hands and a pair of strong, supple wrists.

With that start he has a big jump on the road to the glory of the game. For the hands and wrists play a tremendous rôle in the pastime, a greater rôle than many thousands ever think it is necessary to be.

It isn't necessary that the hands be big and the wrists bulky. This is generally the case, but not always so. Harry Vardon has a prodigious pair of hands with thick, powerful wrists. A big part of his wonderful control comes from the power and adroitness, the suppleness and leverage that rest in the two sections of his golfing anatomy.

When Bobby Jones was fourteen years old many marveled that a young boy could get such unusual distance with every club. He had the correct timing of the correct swing. But even at the age of fourteen Bobby had unusually large hands, the hands of a big man, attached to thick, powerful wrists.

As in the case of Harry Vardon, the Amateur star was able to get a running start and yield a big advantage through the use of a pair of brawny "mitts."

Other Types

Oswald Kirkby, three times Metropolitan champion, has a pair of powerful hands, a powerful grip. The use he has made of these has been a big factor in his game.

The same thing applies to Chief Bender, whose fingers are long enough to reach a baseball. The Chief's hands are not particularly bulky, but the length from the start of the palm to the finger tips is well beyond average range.

While he was never a golf star, he was always very good, always in the low 80s even while playing the game at only occasional spots in his career.

Abe Mitchell is another who has enjoyed the advantage of big hands and thick, strong wrists. Hands and wrists have been a leading factor in the terrific distance Mitchell gets, as he makes no pretensions to a long follow through, the club head frequently stopping a few feet beyond the ball, hardly more than half way up to his left shoulder.

Bigness Not Essential

Bigness of hands and wrists is not, however, essential, provided strength and suppleness remain. Jerry Travers, four times amateur champion, has hands and wrists of average size, but they are strong and supple.

Max Bohland, two-mile metropolitan champion, and Andy Gray, former title holder, have hands and wrists of average size, but they are strong and supple.

The James E. Sullivan Officials' Club held its annual meeting at the 12th Regiment Armory last night and re-elected its former officers for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1920.

The national indoor track and field championships of the A. A. U. will be held on March 19 at the 12th Regiment Armory, it was announced yesterday.

Gipp Shows Little Change

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 11.—The condition of George Gipp, Notre Dame football player, suffering from a throat infection, remained unchanged this morning, according to hospital authorities. Gipp rallied yesterday, but still is said to be in a critical condition.

Famous Old Athlete Dies

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 11.—Robert Lee Sears, forty-four, famous Purdue University athlete and captain of the 1900 Olympic team, died yesterday at his home in Canyon City, Colo., according to word received at the university today.

Stecher and Lewis Are Ready For Title Wrestling Match

Champion and Challenger Will Struggle To Finish at Armory To-morrow

Joe Stecher, world's wrestling champion and possessor of the mighty scissors hold, with which he has won more than his share of titles, will defend his title in a match with "Strangler" Lewis to-morrow night at the 12th Regiment Armory. Both have trained long and faithfully for this meeting and each is in superb physical condition.

The tussle will be to a finish, one fall to decide. Last year in this armory Stecher successfully defended his laurels against the assaults of Lewis after three hours of sensational wrestling. Two minutes after Stecher wound his opponent, it is expected that the issue to-morrow night will be just as bitterly contested.

Under the one-fall rule there can be no doubt as to the question of superiority. It makes no difference if the match consumes two minutes or five hours; they will wrestle until Referee Bolinger proclaims the winner. It was only through the inauguration of finish

Record Year in Sports At Williams College

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Dec. 11.—This is a big year for sports at Williams College, as far as the pumber of students participating in the various branches is concerned. The number is believed to be greater than ever before, about three-quarters of the undergraduates having engaged in some form of athletics.

When the varsity football squad was called out fifty-six men reported and as many more joined the freshman squad a few weeks later. The annual fall tennis tournament had seventy-five entries, while a score or more competed in the golf event. Cross-country and track had a squad of something like sixty men working out and the annual class soccer series attracted an equal number.

Breaks Ankle in Match

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Gradium Penfield, captain of the Northwestern University football eleven this year, broke his left ankle yesterday in a wrestling match with his brother, Henry Penfield, also a member of the Purple Eleven.

Xaviers Win Two Games

Xavier H. S. basketball team won two yesterday on their home court. The Prep five defeated Brooklyn Cathedral Prep by 22 to 16, and the Xavier seconds nipped out Hoboken Y. M. C. A. by 16 to 14.

Tales of a Wayside Tree

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1920, New York Tribune Inc.)

Lucky is the golfer who has strong, supple hands and a pair of strong, supple wrists.

With that start he has a big jump on the road to the glory of the game. For the hands and wrists play a tremendous rôle in the pastime, a greater rôle than many thousands ever think it is necessary to be.

It isn't necessary that the hands be big and the wrists bulky. This is generally the case, but not always so. Harry Vardon has a prodigious pair of hands with thick, powerful wrists. A big part of his wonderful control comes from the power and adroitness, the suppleness and leverage that rest in the two sections of his golfing anatomy.

When Bobby Jones was fourteen years old many marveled that a young boy could get such unusual distance with every club. He had the correct timing of the correct swing. But even at the age of fourteen Bobby had unusually large hands, the hands of a big man, attached to thick, powerful wrists.

As in the case of Harry Vardon, the Amateur star was able to get a running start and yield a big advantage through the use of a pair of brawny "mitts."

Other Types

Oswald Kirkby, three times Metropolitan champion, has a pair of powerful hands, a powerful grip. The use he has made of these has been a big factor in his game.

The same thing applies to Chief Bender, whose fingers are long enough to reach a baseball. The Chief's hands are not particularly bulky, but the length from the start of the palm to the finger tips is well beyond average range.